

Pasquale Di Fazio was born in Lavello (Italy) in 1960 but spent part of his life in Milan. He is a self-taught artist and from 1985 he devoted himself entirely to painting exhibiting his work for the first time in Milan in 1990. From that time he has been presenting his paintings in Europe, Russia and in the United States of America. Initially interested in landscape painting, he mixed various techniques using oil and acrylic colors and materials such as wood, jute and fabrics. He translates his love for nature on the canvas evoking the atmosphere of the Italian countryside, and Tuscany in particular, in his inimitable way. Following his continuous research, he approaches abstract painting which will allow him to best express his artistic skills. Di Fazio currently lives and works in Tuscany and focuses on abstract art. His deep knowledge of composition and depth allows his paintings to take on a spatial dimension, with his fabulous and surprising colors that provide extraordinary lighting and a mystical background. His paintings are intriguing and fascinating for their composition and the harmony of colors, partly the result of the artist's advanced technical skills. The colors blend subtly into a brilliant alchemy that reflects a great expressive force. Without any reference to realism, Di Fazio shows a universe full of surprise with the desire to promote emotions. His works reveal a unique atmosphere that brings together both color and form to propose new pictorial sensations.